These two men have surveyed 106,500 acres of land in these counties and say that it belongs to them, They are armed with deeds and land grants, dating 101 years ago, wherein the land that they claim was deeded to their grandparents by the government for services rendered. Grandfather mountain, the Cranberry iron works and the whole town of Linville are included in the claim. At first the people thought that it was some wildcat scheme, but the confidence Cochrane and Tate exhibit and the documents they have lately brought to bear have put a serious aspect on the matter and many of the people now think it quite probable that they will have think it quite probable that they will have to give up their homes or rebuy them. weeks ago Editor Rosewater, of The Omaha Bee, and Hon. W. J. Bryan debated the financial question tonight, much to the liscomforture of the goldbug champion and to the apparent delight of the advo cates of free coinage. The largest audiorium in the city had been secured, but it was insufficient to hold the immense crowds which tried to gain admittance Twelve hundred reserved seats had been issued, but the public filled every available space in the house to hear the chamoion of the white metal.

It was a Bryan crowd, but the advocate of "sound money" made a creditable showing. Mr. Bryan launched immediately into his subject and put his opponent on the defensive. He demanded of Mr. Rosewater that he go to the heart of his subject and explain the appreciation of gold. Mr. Rosewater never once touched on it. Mr. Bryan wanted to know why it was that the government was compelled to issue so many gold interest-bearing bonds. Mr. Rosewater replied because there were so many Bryans in the country and the audience hissed and made him take

The champion of monometallism became irritated, rattled and lost his self-possession, played into the hands of his enemies several times and became the laughing stock of those he had hoped to convince. About seventy-five folly citizens, members of the Zamora temple of Birmingham, reached the city yesterday on a pilgrimage, and they met a cordial reception. They had crossed the sandy desert, and when they lined up here they bore evidence of a desert thirst. They did not at once seek out the cool well of Zem Zem, or if they did he route to it lay by the brewery, where they tarried a bit in the shade before pursuing their journey to the famous fount. This afternoon the nobles of Zamora were joined by the nobles resident in this city, as well as several other nobles from different portions of the state, and nearly one hundred strong they made a public parade which was one of the most unique displays ever seen in this section. The streets were thronged with the curious, who turned out to see the most time of the most turned out to see the measurements. with the curious, who turned out to see the procession of these fun loving sons of the desert. Last night at 8 o'clock the sixth annual session of the State Christian Endeavorers opened in the First Presbyterian church here. The opening of the convention was signalized by a superb song service by a choir of about one hundred of the best singers of this 'city made up from all denominations. The opening sermon was delivered by Rev. James I. Vance, of Nashville, Tenn., whose subject was "Christendom's Obligation." Rev. Dr. Vance is one of the ablest ministers of the Presbyterian church in the south, and his sermon attracted the closest interest of the large crowd of delegates and visitors who were present at the opening exercises. The church in which the sessions are being held had been teastefully decorated by the members of the local branch, and they are doing everything possible to make the Montgomery convention a decided success.

The old tengers who have worked from their childhood along the shores of Long Island, or among the rich oyster beds of the Chesapeake, are compelled to hang up their dredges and seek other places now to ply their calling. The great oyster beds at the north that have for years supplied the American market are almost exhausted, and the oyster men are turning their capital and energies to the great and fertile natural beds at the south. Near Baltimore the supply has been gradually decreasing, since 1890, and the vandals and robbers along the shores of the Chesapeake and the star fish about Long Island have about exhausted the supply in those waters, despite the various state laws enacted to

This is a decided advantage to the demo-In 1890 the Brunswick factory was erected at a cost of $125,000, furnished largely by northern capitalists. It went into the hands of a receiver after two years ex-istence and was finally purchased at a lew figure by organized local capitalists with A. H. Lane as president and F. D. Alken manager, secretary and treasurer, under the style of the Alken Canning Com-pany. The first year expenses were paid, the second $3,750 was made and this year the company expects to hold back on their product until prices rise in canned goods, their shipments in bulk more than pay-ing the running expenses of the entire oncern. The oyster gatherers are "contracted with-that is those who own steamers, dredges and flats-after the manner in which railroad contracts are let to remove dirt. In the meantime a large number of small boat owners are out in their house boats gathering oysters and making thereby enough money to support themselves and families. Twenty to thirty of these boats are in commission in addition to the ones owned by the company, and all are licensed by the national government to carry on this coasting trade, being subject to the marine laws of the United States and under the charge of the would be fatal to the growth and increase sister in the Rom of the oysters, and should they not be was born in 1812.

The process of oyster cultivation is a mystery to many people, and the idea prevails very generally that the oysters are actually fed and fattened like chickens or hogs. This is a mistake, however, and the cuitivating process consists simply in transferring the oyster from shallow to deep water, where they expand, get thicker and assume a better shape in a very short while. The age of an oyster is immaterial, and one fully matured can be cultivated and enlarged by being placed in deep water as easily as a young one. The manager keeps informed fully on the time when each section of the farm is planted, how long the oysters have been grawing, and judges their probable size thereby. On an average of 400 bushels less per day are taken from a section than are planted each day. The dredges used by the steam vessels are constructed of iron netting under the bottom, and of hemp meshes on top and sides. It is about four feet wide by six in length and is dragged along the bottom of the river from the side of the vessel as it steams along. It is an easy matter to tell when the dredge is full by noticing the strain upon the rope by which it is fastened to the boat. A hoisting engine is used to raise the dredges on board the boat. After the boat is filled with oysters it steams back to the factory and unloads,

About sixty men, boys, girls and women are employed as openers. As soon as the boat's load is dumped on the docks the openers begin work on it, and as the barriels set apart for bulk oysters are filled a plece of ice is put in and they are sealed and ready for shipment.

The factory proper is built in the form of two sides of a square, each side measuring 150 feet in length by forty in breadth. It is divided into three compartments—the opening room, the process or canning room and the offices.

On the docks are two large iron steaming chests, about forty feet long by five in breadth, and thickness. Warm cans or crates are loaded wit

LOVE, THEN POISON.

A QUEER STORY THAT COMES TO CHIEF CONNCLLY BY MAIL.

A Wife's Cruel Deed-Poisons Her Husband for His Life Insurance. May Be in Atlanta.

Chief Connolly was the recipient of a verpeculiar letter from Philadelphia yesterday from a man who is in search of his wife, who attempted to poison him for his life insurance several months ago after having successfully performed the same deed on her own sister. The woman has robbed several people and her photograph is now in the rogues gallery of several cities. The husband R. F. Peters, an engraver of Philadelphia and the circumstances leading up to their marriage were decidedly romantic. On a the woman on the street and offered t escort her across the muddy crossing. She immediately consented and they did no part on the other side, but were soon mar ried, but not until after he had insured his life for $6,000. Shortly after the marriage she induced him to move to her old home on Spruce street, and shortly after the change he was stomach, and his life was almost despaired of. At the end of three months, however, he was pronounced out of danger, and the doctors told him that he had been poisoned. He immediately began to suspect his wife, and one day she came into the room with a solution which she was begging him to take, when the physician entered and told take, when the physician entered and told draught to the floor.

After Peters was fully recovered he went to the office of the company where his life was insured, and was told that his wife had een there on several occasions to inquire if she could draw the money as soon as her husband was dead.

In a short while Mrs. Peters fled from the city, after having committed several daring robberies, and has not been heard from since. It was afterwards learned that she had poisoned her own sister for the same purpose a year or two before, and he committed several crimes of an equal crimes of an equally erious nature. Her name is Bertha Peters but she travels under the aliases of Drake, Wilkinson, Viola Wilson, Dale, Williams and Miss Peters. Her husband is very anxious for her capture and has spent large sum for this purpose. She is about hirty years of age, weighs 150 pounds, has thirty years of age, weight light hair and is rather heavy set. The letter to Chief Connolly states that

The Bermuda Heard From.

Washington, May 15.—A cablegram from the Spanish consul at Truxillo, Honduras, to Minister Dupuy de Lome, confirmed the failure of the Bermuda to land her arms and men in Cuba on her last trip. The consul says on the arrival of the Bermuda in Truxillo, the captain declared at the customs house that he had the following men: Crew 27, passengers 11 and 100 tons of coal. Subsequently he admitted having on board thirty workmen, making a total of sixty-eight men. The authorities found the hold apparently full of coal which made it impossible for them to search for the alleged arms, which, if on board, were covered up by coal.

Without waiting for a permit the Bermuda left port and landed sixty men thirty miles down the coast, and then proceeded to Puerto Cortez.

The Desperado Captured in Jasper

WANTED FOR ARSON AND RIOT

Two Warrants Are Now Out for His Arrest—Tom Allen's Sworn Testimony About His Escape.

Macon, Ga., May 15.—(Special.)—Charley Williams, alias "Will Bill," of Jasper county, against whom there are two state warrants for arson, one for murder and one for riot, all of which offenses he is alleged to have committed in Jasper, was arrested last evening at Machen, in Jasper county, by United States Deputy Marshal Joe Paley, of Mocon, who had a bench warrant for Williams for illicit distilling. Williams was brought to Macon and put in jail. This morning Commissioner Erwin decided not to try Williams at the present time for the distilling, but directed that Marshal Harrell deliver Williams to Sheriff Westcott, who had a state warrant for him for arson, which had been given to Westcott by the sheriff of Jasper county. Sheriff Westcott has notified the sheriff of Jasper and he will come to Macon for Williams and carry hams to Sheriff Westcott, who had a state warrant for him for arson, which had been given to Westcott by the sheriff of Jasper county. Sheriff Westcott has notified the sheriff of Jasper and he will come to Macon for Williams and carry him to Monticello, to be tried for murder

Williams is charged with having burned the house of a widow in Jasper, who is said to have reported an illicit still. He is also charged with having aided in the murder of Jim Smith last November, be-cause Smith acted in the capacity of an internal revenue informer. The follow-ing parties of Jasper are said to have assisted in the killing: Sam Henderson, Jr., Flem Henderson, Boss Henderson, Sid Womack and Charles Bailey. Smith's brains were blown out with a shotgun, and his dead body was then rolled in a shirt and thrown into a well, where it was found several days later. All of the above parties have been arrested and are in the Monticello Jail, awaiting trial.

Allen's Testimony Taken. The sworn testimony of Tom Allen was taken this morning at the jail relative to his escape from jail in February, 1855, so taken this morning at the jail relative to his escape from jail in February, 1825, so far as ex-Jailer. Nat Birdsong was concerned. As stated in The Constitution this morning, Birdsong's attorneys made application yesterday affernoon to Judge Felton to give Birdsong a trial next week on the indictment found against him by the grand jury, charging him with aiding in the escape of Allen. This speedy trial was asked for as Allen's testimony was desired before next Friday, the day set for the execution of Allen. Judge Felton is disqualified, and he doubted if a disqualified judge could be obtained next week to bear Birdsong's trial. Birdsong's attorneys are Dessau, Bartlett & Ellis, Wimberly & Felder and W. J. Grace. They told Judge Felton if Birdsong could not be tried next week they would be forced to ask Governor Atkinson to respite Allen until Birdsong's trial. Today Judge Felton signed an order, which had been consented to by Solicitor General Lang and Birdsong's attorneys, appointing Mr. A. E. Barnes special commissioner to take the sworn testimony of Tom Allen. Mr. Barnes is the official stenographer of the Macon circuit. The order authorized Mr. Barnes to administer the oath to Allen, take down his testimony stenographically in the presence of the attorneys on the two sides, to permit all and any questions of the attorneys to be answered, but if objections were raised to note the objections and report the answers of Allen to the objections were raised to note the objections and report the answers of Allen to the objections were raised to note the objections and report the sames of the attorneys to be answered, but if objections were raised to note the objections and report the answers of Allen to the objections were raised to note the objections and report the same of the order Special Commissioner Barnes went to the jail administered the oath to Allen and took down his testimony can be used at Birdsong's trial whenever it is held, without checkions from either the state or defense. After the signing of the far as ex-Jailer Nat Birdsong was con-

This decision sustains Ordinary Wiley's order, which directed that the child be placed in charges of the South Georgia Methodist Conference Orphan Home.

Perry and Its Bonds.

Perry recently voted to issue $10,000 of bonds to build waterworks, and the contract was let at $7,400 to an Atlanta firm. W. H. Norwood and George B. Wells, of Perry, enjoined the issue on various grounds. This evening Judge Felton, at Macon, heard the injunction, L. L. Brown, of Fort Valley, representing the enjoiners and Robert Holtzclaw, representing the town of Perry. Judge Felton sustained the injunction, for the reason that the notice of publication did not specify what amount of bonds should be issued, for that the notice said the issue shall not exceed $10,000, nor did the notice specify what interest the bonds should bear, other than it should not be more than $ per cent, fior does the notice specify how much principal and interest were to be paid annually. The case will either be appealed to the supreme court or Perry will hold a new election for bonds.

Newsy Notes.

THIS NEGRO WAS ANGRY.

With His Gun He Bulldozed His Whole

Family. Tweed, Ga., May 15.-(Special.)-Weap ons of various descriptions played an im portant part in a battle Wednesday night, in which men and women of the colored persuasion were the participants. The instigator of the incipient riot was Richard Smith, a mulatto negro of gigantic stature, weighing over 200 pounds, a pilot on the Ocone river, who returned from a trip on the liver Tuesday evening con-siderably under the influence of whisky and maltreated his wife in a fearful mar ner. Fearing that he would murder her later, she went to her brother's house near by Smith, charged pretty well with bad liquor, came up cursing and shouting like a mad man and in his hand the held a gun.

The noise brought to the scene his wife's mother, father and other negroes. All were armed with some kind of missel. Smith demanded admission to the house, but was refused. This enraged him so that he tried to break the door down. It was opened and Smith thrust his gun in-side and several sprang at him to wrest it away. In the scuffle the gun exploded, the load entering the wall.

With the butt end of the smoking gun
he attacked his wife, striking her a terrilic blow over the head, rendering her unconscious. The crowd rushed at him intending to use him up, but Smith kept them at bay. His old mother-in-law en-deavored to make short work of him with a piece of iron, but when she looked down the muzzle of the gun she desisted from her purpose. Warrants have been sworm out against Smith and when the officers try to arrest him a rough time is antici-

INDICTMENTS AGAINST WRIGHT.

Two Crimes Charged to the Young Man in Columbus' Jail.

Columbus, Ga., May 15.—(Special.)—The grand jury of Muscogee county today returned two true bills against. Walter Wright, the young man who on Tuesday afternoon shot down Dr. J. T. Blackwell in the street, and who is now confined in jail. The grand jury indicted young Wright on two charges, one of murder and another of assault with intent to murder.

Some time ago Wright fired at some ne groes near the "bottom," and this with the killing of Tuesday, occasioned the two indictments, the one of murder being caused by the tragedy this week, of urse. But two or three of the importan vitnesses were examined by the grand ury, these being all that were necessary or indictment. The superior court is now a session and the case will probably be tried during this term. The outcome wi be awaited with great interest, as the affair of Tuesday was one of the most sensational ones that ever occurred here.

senatorial district, consisting of Floyd, Bartow and Chattooga. The contest has grown out of the candi-dacy of Colonel Gus Fite for the solicitor-ship of his judicial circuit. For this race he is opposed by Colonel T. R. Jones, of Dalton, a brother of three prominent citizens of Chattooga county. On account of the family relationship it was supposed that Hon. Wesley Shropshire, Chattooga's candidate for state senator, would yote for Colonel Jones. Chattooga's candidate for state senator, would yote for Colonel Jones.

The battle opened at the meeting of the district committee when the Bartow delegates claimed that Chattooga had no right to name the candidate, although it was the turn of that county, under the rotation system, to furnish the senator.

The result was a serious division in the district committee, the Floyd delegation, with one of Chattooga's delegates, standing by Colonel Shropshire and the right of Chattooga to name the candidate.

The Cartersville Courant-American took up the eudgel for Colonel Fite and The Chattooga News replied championing the cause of Colonel Shropshire.

The Rome Tribune this morning published a lengthy article from The Chattooga News, purporting to be a vindication of the action of Chattooga county and an explanation of the sylation. In the article Colonel Fite is chaged with having sprung a cut and dried scheme on the convention to ignore the rights of Chattooga, in the selection of a senator and to override the will of the people in selecting a candidate for senator.

Colonel Fite came up to Rome today to take a hand in the matter and he will publish tomorrow a communication refuting the charges contained in The News article and vindicating his own actions in the premises. The article is a vigorous denial of any unfair advantage having been sought or taken in the calling together or action of the committee. Colonel Fite says that he is confident of succeeding in his race for the solicitorship of the circuit and he asserts emphatically that he has done nothing but what is right and proper in the matter.

Senator Hill's Financial Views.

Senator Hill, of New York, seems to very much disturbed over the groundswell in the democratic party in favor of the restoration of silver as a part of our primary money, and he is now engaged, according to all accounts, in try ing to "stem the tide." He recently went over the figures with Senator Faulkner, of West Virginia, who is a much handsomer cuckoo than Senator Hill, and has come to the conclusion that the result in Chicago all depends on whether the democratic bolters from Nebraska are seated, or whether the regular democratic delegates are permit ted to retain their seats. If the bolters are seated, Senator Hill says the gold men will control the convention. If the ocrats will control the convention. The truth of the matter is that Senator Hill is giving out that view in order to keep the agents of the money power in good spirits. He knows very well, if he is as shrewd a politician as he is reputed to be, that the free coinage democrats will have a majority so large that the Nebraska business will not figure in the result.

delegates representing the party organization are seated, the free coinage dem

Mr. Hill himself was until recently an outspoken champion of free coinage. In July, 1893, he wrote a letter to The Constitution setting forth his views, and that letter was made public, with Senator Hill's consent, no longer than a year

We believe that he was honest in his convictions-that he really held the views which he expressed in his letter to The Constitution. But he had not then been to Washington in his official capacity.: At that time he had not had an opportunity to sit at the feet of Mr. Cleveland and study finance. The opportunity came when he went to Washington. He had a conference with the president-the public press teemed with accounts of it at the time-and since that time Mr. Hill has not only changed his views on the financial question, but has become one of the most active and alert cuckoos in the whole gang.

We print in another place what Mr. Hill thought of the importance of free coinage a year ago. He proved himself to be a prophet with respect to the unconditional repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act, for his letter was written before Mr. Cleveland and the cuckoos had forced repeal. Times are worse now, the whole country over, than when the purchasing clase was repealed, and the demand for permanent financial relief has become irresistible-so irresistible, in fact, that Mr. Hill and those with whom he proposes to act at Chicago, will be swept off their feet by it.

The democrats of the country have followed Mr. Hill's advice. They have prepared, "not for present victory, but for victory upon that issue" (unrestricted coinage of gold and silver alike) "in 1896." They have continued "to hold out free coinage as the goal which the country must ultimately reach." They will have a majority in the Chicago convention-some sanguine democrats say that the majority will be twothirds; but even if the seating of the bolting delegation from Nebraska would give the gold men control of the convention, that scheme will not be carried out. We dare the agents of the money power of the gold standard, and at that time the most pronounced gold contractionists were calling themselves "bimetallists." Not one of them dared avow that he was for the gold standard. The way the people were deceived in 1892 was pitiable indeed. To this day there are thousands of honest and inelligent voters in the country who do not know how and when and where the ree coinage platform of 1892 became a who can give them any information on the subject? Certainly not poor Mr.

Watterson and his late newspaper. Only the Benedicts and the men com posing the inner ring of the money pow er knew that Mr Cleveland was a gold standard man; and that, if elected, he would proceed to wreck the prosperity of the country in behalf of the interests of the gold holders. One whisper of this would have given the man a minor ity at the polls not large enough to

But the eyes of the people are open now. They are not going to take any hances on straddling platforms and mum candidates. They are going to know this year precisely who and what hey are voting for.

While, therefore, we keep our eyes on Kentucky, we invite poor Mr. Watterson's late newspaper to watch the emoire state of Georgia.

The Sorrows of Rudyard Kipling.

Years ago the elder D'Isaraeli, wrote volume on "The Quarrels and Calamiies of Authors," which ranks among the nest productions of English literature. The title of this volume is recalled by the tribulations which have recently overtaken Rudvard Kipling, the English novelist, who has been a visitor in this ountry for several months. Two or three days ago Kipling had a lifficulty with his brother-in-law, in which the latter inflicted bruises upon he former's intellectual organ which are likely to preserve the marks of the enunter for several weeks. It is doubtful if Kipling will be able to collect the story which he had in mind at the time of the dispute and which his brother-inlaw has scattered over one of the turnpikes of Vermont

As a sequel to this encounter Kipling nas had his brother-in-law put under a bond of $800, to keep the peace and to answer at the next term of court to the charge of assault with intent to mur-

In this disgraceful affair Kipling has shown but little of the courage which he has lavished upon his heroes. What a pity it is that he endowed Mulvaney with so much of the martial spirit and reserved such a trivial portion for him-

Kipling will derive but little profit from his American adventure. The newspapers have shown but slight regard for his wounded feelings and there will be no delay in apprising his English friends of the humiliation to which he has been subjected. No rupture between the two countries is likely to result from this affair, which is more of a family quarrel than an international feud.

In speaking of the affair, The Boston Journal makes the observation that he fully deserved his beating. He had nothing but ridicule for Americans and regarded a newspaper man as the advance agent of the devil. For this reason he could expect no sympathy from the at the feet of the money power. American press.

In a lighter vein The Chicago Journal ndulges in the following comment upon the affair:

Rudyard Kipling once indulged in very foolish comment on America when he knew nothing of the country, but Americans have taken too keen a delight in his many charming stories to hold that against him. They will regret that during his resience among them he has been the victim of one of those intensely disagreeable fam-ily rows that may occur anywhere, and wish him better luck in his future home if he should really transfer his household goods to foreign parts. Too much brotherin-law is not as notorious a complaint as too much mother-in-law, but it is by no means an infrequent one. When it is accompanied by the aggravating circum stance of protracted potations of spirituous liquor, a fitful and violent temper, and general "good-for-nothingness," it becomes serious, and a man would be justified in crossing an ocean and two continents in flight to far Cathay to escape it. Perhaps Mr. Kiping may be able to translate his experience into a story, but even that would hardly compensate him for his wor-

On the other hand, it is generally believed that McKinley, although he is holding his tongue, in order to secure delegates from the west, in order to reap all the advantages that the attacks of the eastern men have given him, it is thought at the headquarters of the money power to be safely for the single gold standard. Mr. Inman Must Stay.

Atlanta can ill afford to lose such a caluable and useful citizen as Mr. S. M. Inman, and against his contemplated change of residence the people of this protest

The announcement that Mr Inman had under consideration a step of this kindwas read with feelings of mingled surprise and regret. Some of his most in timate friends were not aware of the fact that such a thought had entered his mind.

Mr. Inman has been a resident of At lanta for more than twenty-five years. During that time he has become thor oughly identified with the business, so cial and religious life of this city and much of Atlanta's prosperity is due to the efforts which he has put forth in her behalf. He has been a leader in the church as well as in the ranks of business and has filled the measure of a zealous, public-spirited and upright cit-

Devoting himself to the cotton interests of the south, Mr. Inman laid the foun dations of his business in Atlanta direct ly after the war. In this department of commercial enterprise he has aided in the material upbuilding of this section and, under his wise direction, the firm o S. M. Inman & Co. has become the greatest cotton house in the world. There has never been a time in Atlanta's history when Mr. Inman has not ceded to the claims which she has made upon him, and his benefactions have been exceeded only by the cheerful manner in which they have been bestowed. His contributions to all pub lic enterprises have been liberal and no movement which has promised to benefit Atlanta has failed to receive his cordial support and encouragement. Business ties and associations hav been formed by Mr. Inman during the last twenty-five years which cannot be severed without pain to those who have enjoyed his genial fellowship and who have profited by his wise counsels

But there is still a deeper and more important consideration. During the years which Mr. Inman has spent in this city he has endeared himself to thousands who have mingled with him in the may be lightly severed but social ties are not so easily forgotten.

street, has opinions on the silver question. "Tell me what sound money is," he said to a reporter the other day. "This idea that gold is sound or honest money is all bosh. Gold is only used for two things-for bankers' currency and to plug teeth with." Money that is not "honest" enough to circulate among the people cannot be either "sound" or "honest." It is certainly not "honest" enough to be used as the sole measure of the value of the wealth the people create.

Wash Hesing has made haste to up and say that a year has passed since Mr. Cleveland told him he wouldn't be a candidate again. A year is a mighty long time in politics.

"The silver craze is spreading on all sides," shrieks the Washington correspondent of a gold organ in New York. And this, too, after Editor Godkin has killed and buried it with his own hands. Will some one pass the camphor bottle around?

It is now said in Washington that "the pressure of events" will cause Mr. Cleveland to run again. Then we are to have some fun, after all. Very good.

We already see Senator Hill seating the bolting delegation from Nebraska in the Chicago convention. He is as polite as a dancing master.

Dr. William R. Salmon, the oldest Free Mason in the world, died at his ho South Wales a few days ago at the pa triarchal age of 106 years. For ten years he has lived in retirement on his Welsh estate, and for the last two years he has not been out of his quarters. There is no doubt as to his age, which is clearly established by family records, showing that ie was born in 1790. His father was a practicing physician and a country gen-tieman of rank. Dr. Salmon was the old-est member of the College of Surgeons, and that body has the proof of his great age. "He was not in the battle of oo," says a London special to ses-Herald, "but was on the field a days after the downfall of Napoleon. The Outlook.

From The Cincinnati Enquirer. It is quite evident that the national re publican convention will declare for a gold standard. The Minnesota straddle of 892, so foolishly repeated in Ohio in 1896 by the friends of Governor McKinley, will not satisfy the east, nor bring any Wall street money into the campaign fund. Already McKinley has been placed on the defensive, and General Grosvenor is la-boring through the press to satisfy his eastern taskmasters that he favors the gold standard. We repeat that the na ionl republican convention will not dare to disappoint the expectations of the New York bankers and bond dealers, and will give them whatever platform they want. is equally evident that the silver republicans will not support Governor McKin-ley, either on a gold standard platform or on one of doubtful construction. It is no disparagement to other able republican who favor free silver coinage to say that Senator Teller, of Colorado, is he recognized leader of the silver repubcans. Here is what he has just written the republican state convention of Col-

"The state convention should act with the rull knowledge that I do not intend to support a candidate on a gold platform or on a platform of doubtful construction. If this course puts me out of sympathy with the republican sentiment of the state as a portion of the press alleges it will, I accept that result with all its logical consequences in preference to an abandonment of principles and stutification of my record, made, as I conceive, under the instruction of every republican state convention held in Colorado during the last twelve years."

ilar position in a speech in the senate a few weeks ago. He is the chairman of the national republican committee, and will call the national republican convention to order and be its presiding officer until a temporary chairman is elected. It is unnecessary to follow up these names with those of other prominent republican leaders in and out of congress. The populists, who were driven out of the de cratic party by their unwillingness even appear to favor Mr. Cleveland's financial schemes, are waiting for the national democratic convention to declare for silver coinage, and to nominate a known and honest supporter of that pelicy, and they will return to their former al-legiance. A great body of citizens who stand for silver coinage outside of all par-ties are ready to follow a true leadership n that direction. The republican party is the party of the gold men. It would be folloy for the democratic party to compete with it for their support. If the national democratic conwention could be bought up by the gold and bond syndicates, it would be merely "a running mate" for the republican party. If it takes bold ground, firmly and positively for the free coinage of both metals on equal terms, it can have the support of every advocate of silver coinage in the United States. Never since its organization has it had a greater opportunity to command the popular vote, and to enter upon power pledged to the best interests of the American people. It is marching on to this destiny. Nothing can stay it but treason and corruption. If these can overpower it, it is time for it to perish.

IMPROVEMENTS IN POLICE SERVICE

Atlanta Will Probably Adopt the Bertillon System.

FOR IDENTIFYING CRIMINALS

Police Board Will Take the Matter Up at Its Next Meeting.

OLD "ROGUES GALLERIES" NOW OBSOLETE

The Establishment of a Pinkerton Detective Agency Is Now a Certainty-Will Open Shortly.

The proposition to introduce into the Atlanta police department the new Bertillor system of measuring and photographing criminals for the purpose of identification will come before the board of police com is probable that it will be adopted.

This system is recognized in Europe and America as the most perfect in existence and has been adopted in London, Paris and world.

A great many American cities have adopt ed it and are thoroughly satisfied with its workings.

During the convention of the chiefs of Police of the United States and Canada, which met in Atlanta this week, the systhe hands of the principal police officials of this country. it and is firmly of the opinion that, sooner or later, it will be the only system i use in America. Another Atlantian, who is very much interested in the science of the system, is Police Commissioner Harry Stockdell. He will probably champion its cause before the missioners when it is brought before that body. Yesterday Commissioner Stockdeil had a long interview with Mr. George R. Porteus, of Chicago, who is introducing the system in the United States.

Mr. Porteus studied it under M. Bertillon himself in Paris during the exposition in 1889. He is thoroughly versed in the work and explained it at length to the police officials of Atlanta.

The system is a very simple one and requires little explanation. It is based on the principle that no two people in the world are exactly alike, and if nine measurements are taken of certain portions of the body, which seldom if ever change after maturity, any person can be so classified that h an be picked out in a collection of a hung Old "Rogue Galleries" Now Obsolete.

Under the old system of "rogues' galler ies" the photograph of every criminal arrested was taken in and put in large al-bums, which were easily accessible and had some degree of system, but the system was very crude. To identify a criminal it was necessary to have a man constantly employed who was an expert at remembering and recognizing faces. Such men are not always obtainable for such work and even where they are ob tainable it is often a very serious task to identify the criminals that are caught on account of their various tricks of changing their facial expressions and the shape of It was generally necessary to make a laborious inspection of hundreds of photo-graphs before the man could be located in his photograph and record were in the gallery, but under the new French system all Any man of ordinary intelligence is as good as an expert for the work. Nine ents are taken:

3. The trunk, which constitutes a measurement of the body in a sitting posture 4. The length of the head from the front

5. The width of the head.

6. The size of the ear.
7. The length of the left foot.
8. The length of the left middle finger.

9. The length of the left forearm from the ip of the fingers to the elbow.

These measurements have been proved by long experience to be the ones that change less than any others after a man reaches maturity. There are three classes for all of these measurements-large, medium and

When a criminal is measured he is classified in one of these three branches in every one of the nine measurements and in that way he can be distinguished from any other in a thousand, for no two men are alike. Men may have the same height, the same length of foot, the same length of head and yet they will differ in every other measure-

The system of classification is so perfect that it is not necessary to look through hundreds of photographs, but one can turn in ten minutes to the measurements which correspond to the criminal examined, if rements have ever been taken un-

This is a great benefit to police authori-This is a great benefit to police authorities of large cities, especially where the same criminals are arrested time and again. It is very easy for a culprit who has been before the magistrate the year before to swear that he has never been up for frial and the chances are that with the thousands who have been handled since his advent neither the magistrate nor any of the court officials can swear that he was of the court officials can swear that he was ever there before, but with the Bertillon system the fact can be ascertained in ten minutes by a comparison of his measurements, and it is not necessary to ask the crooks any questions or for them to tell any lies. The proof is absolute.

Pinkerton's Detective Agency.

Another improvement in the police service of Atlanta will be derived in an indirect way from the establishment of a large Pinkerton detective agency in this city in the course of a few weeks.

This is a private enterprise, but it is apt to have the effect of lessening crime to a certain extent, as the name of Pinkerton is feared among the criminal classes the country over, to such an extent that it will cause the crooks around Atlanta to hesitate before going into any thieving or other unlawful enterprises right under the very nose of the greatest detective agency in America and probably in the world.

Mr. William A. Pinkerton, the head of this great detective organization, has been in Atlanta several days this week attending the police chiefs' convention. He left the city yesterday for Chicago. Before going he looked around for offices and it is believed that he has selected the place at which he will make his southern headquarters, though he has not made his selection public.

Mr. Pinkerton was very much impressed

nc. Pinkerton was very much impressed h Atlanta and said that he would cer-dive establish an agency here in a few weeks.

He will probably send down a superintendent from his central headquarters in Chicago and select most of his detectives from local talent here.

He said that most of his work would probably be in connection with the American Bankers' Protective Association. This organization is for the purpose of protecting banks from professional bank thieves, and Pinkerton's agency is in charge of all of the police work of the organization.

All of the chiefs of police who attended the convention returned to their homes yeshe convention returned to their hon

The Old Man Longs for His Country Home

These Summer Days. ROUTINE OF HIS DAILY LIFE

Does Not Love His New Son-in-Law. Gives a New Theory of His Arrest.

Old man Delk, the noted outlaw who se successfully resisted the officers for so ong, is still confined in a cell at police headquarters. Present prospects indicate that he will remain there until the next term of court, which meets next October. Delk spends his days very quietly, and has settled down into the monstonous routine of prison life. He has every com fort and attention that could possibly b given him in his present position, and state that the only complaint that he has to make is the suffering he is compelled to ur dergo as the result of his confinement. He has never appreciated the great principle of freedom so much as now, and he ofter longs for the quiet shades and rugged mountains of his country home. When seen by a Constitution represents tive yesterday afternoon Delk stated that he was perfectly satisfied with his sur-roundings so long as he could not be free, and that the officials of the prison did everything in their power to make him cor fortable. He occupies the first cell in the corridor assigned for the state prisoners, and is given the privilege of using the corridor in the day time, which necessarily leviates a great deal of his suffering that he would otherwise have to endure. He is very methodical in his daily habts. He rises early, and retires at al clock. He wears a gray flannel shirt and light trousers; takes a certain amount of exercise every day walking in the corridor, and enjoys a good bath every night just before retiring, using the faucet for a bath There is no love lost between the old gentleman and his dashing young son-in-law. The reports that have been circulated to the effect that Joe Allen was the devote friend of his father-in-law are without foundation, Delk says, and he does not consider that his daughter has made a very brilliant match. "That feller, Joe Allen, is a daisy, ' zai

he. "I have always tried to fetch my girl up right, and it makes me feel kinder bad to think that she has throwed herself away on such a dude as he is. I have never knowed for sure that they were married until I got a letter from my wife today which told me that it was true. I don't know much about Joe, and have never see: him but twice in my life, but if all them stories he has been telling the news, apers are true, he is certainly a big liar. I don't know what the couple are going to do. Delk very emphatically denies that he resisted the officers when arrested by Detective Looney and his assistants. says if there was any hole in the officer's coat, that he never put it there, and that he made not resistance whatever, hav-ing determined to come to Atlanta the next day and give himself up to the authorities He does not deny, however, that there was some shooting at the time, but it was all done by the officers, who tried to intimidate im into a surrender, and no one was hurt He stated that he could have killed Loone everal times if he had wanted to, but did not want to hurt him, and consequently gave himself up without any resistance He was perfectly aware of the whereabouts of the officers, and could have easily escap-

While here he placed himself under the watchful care of the Second Baptist church of this city, becoming for the time a member of that church. New York, May 15.—Reflecting the quietness of the Liverpool market where the only activity appears in the fair spot business, our market here continues the inactivity of the past few days. The disposition to await further developments is apparently on the increase, and the present crop position, while offering much possibility for conjecture, do not attract general attention. Prospects for the new crop continue most favorable, and the tendency is to take advantage of ruling prices in sales rather than to buy for investment. There has been quite a supply of August delivery offered curing the foremon, and this has been quite a supply of trade, leaving the market at midday quiet and dull. During the afternoon several attempts were made to bid the market up, but they failed, and the market finally closed rather easy in tone at 3 points decline from yester-small.

August opened at 8.08 ralled to 8.10 and closed at tried to support prices, and there was a great deal of covering of short contracts. We do not remember a season in which the crop reports at this time have been so uniformly tavorable, and in the late trading the uneasiness of the bulls was very evident. The manipulation of the summer months has heretofore helped to support

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

A Rumor That Thoman Had Issued a Bearish Circular Broke Wheat. Chicago, May 15.—Under a combination of circumstances wheat was depressed in prices as a result of today's trading. The prices as a result of today's trading. The break, which was greatest in force near the close, is ascribed principally to a vague rumor that Thoman had issued a report on whiter wheat, placing the condition at 14 per cent of an average crop. It was said that the report was in the hands of subscribers, but they were unwilling to make public the details. July wheat opened from 63%,063%c, sold between 63% and 62%,062%c, closing at the inside—101%c under yesterday. Cash wheat was weak and %,01c lower.

Corn—Trading carried with it nothing of an attractive or interesting nature. Speculation was strictly local, with privilege holders using their energies toward obtaining some return on the money invested. Approaching the close those who owned puts were fortunate in being able to buy against them with some profit. July corn opened at 29½c, sold between 29630 and 29½c, closing at the inside—5c under yesterday. Cash corn sold at steady prices, but the feeling at the close was weak in Sympathy with the futures.

Oats were quiet. The movement of prices was a reflection of the tone of wheat and corn, and the traders depended on the action of those grains for motive in their dealings. The trade was light and presented nothing that was worthy of comment. July oats closed ½67¼c lower than yesterday.

Auburn, too, will have a host of friends on the grounds. A number of well-known Auburnites arrived last night and reported a large crowd enroute. they ran up against the red and black on the diamond.

The Athens men are determined to sustain their reputation and are prepared to show the fellows from Auburn that they can hold to the big score which in the past they have piled up against them.

This year's Athens team is thought to be the best in its history. Morris, the captain, is already a favorite in Atlanta. Last year he broke the world's amateur record in the fifty yard dash. Morris is an allround athlete. He was one of the best that the 'varsity boasted of on the gridiron. Morris will pitch for the 'varsity boys today. Rube Nally will catch for Morris. Nally is the most familiar figure in Georgia athletics, having played on the University of Georgia baseball and football teams for the last five years. The 'varsity opponents claim that Nally is the corner stone of athletics at the university.

Kemp, the captain of last year's team, is playing great ball this year, and will, no doubt, show up well today.

Stubbs, who led the boys in football last year, will be seen on first for the Red and Black this afternoon. Hall, who has for the last two years held this position, having been placed on second by Hugh Jennings, while the latter was training the team this year.

Short, who was to pitch for the 'varsity boys, has been withdrawn, the Auburn boys claiming he had played during the summer months with semi-professional teams. The 'varsity withdrew him on this account. Short is a phenomenal pitcher, but his withdrawal will not seriously weaken the Athens boys, as Morris is also an excellent pitcher.

Montgomery, Ala., May 15.—Montgomery and Columbus played a rather slow and istless game today, which was entirely one-sided. Columbus scored in only one and loose. They do not seem to be able to get together or to put any vim or freezy in their playing. The team is plainly too slow for the company it is trying to keep, although individually the players do pretty well. The chief trouble seems to be that they cannot get in touch with each other or the game.

It is reported that the manager is expecting several new players within the next few days. Lally's work this evening the hands of the Georgia men in baseball, and they will strain every effort to gain victory today. Reynolds Tichenor, an Atlanta boy, is captain of the team, and perhaps the strongest player on the nine. Tichenor is well femembered by his phenomenal football work. Christian will pitch for Auburn and those that have seen him claim he is equal to many in the professional ranks.

"Billie" Williams, another favorite on the gridiron, will be in today's game. It will be a fight to the finish, and any play may decide the game. Today's game will be perhaps, the fastest amateur game of ball ever seen in Atlanta.

Society Will Be There.

Society Will Be There.

Society will be out in full to see the game. College games are always well attended in Atlanta and today's game gives promise of being unusually largely attended. The pretty sponsors of the two teams will be driven out in gaily bedecked landaus covered with the colors of the two teams. Miss Iza Glenn and Miss Marion May will be the sponsors for Auburn, while Miss Alice May Wing and Miss Ellen Hillyer will act for the Georgia university. Carts, surreys, tallyhos, in fact all manner of turnouts will be in attendance, showing by their colors those their fair occupants admire and support. Auburn has by hard playing won many friends in Atlanta who will be seen today with the orange and bine on their lapels, while the red and black or the Georgia boys, will have many wearers. The ladies will be out in large numbers.

The game will be called promptly at 4 o'cleck, and a fast, hard game will, no doubt, be fought.

Mr. James F. Dickinson, a director, of the Atlanta baseball association, will officiate as umpire.

The 'varsity team will line up as follows: Morris, pitcher; Nally, catcher; Stubbs, first; Hall, second; Kemp, third; Clarke, shortstop; Davis, center; Price, left, and Levejoy, right. The Auburn boys have not fully decided their places as yet, but Christian will, no doubt, pitch.

A glance at the score will show that the men are getting their eye on the ball and ton's three-bagger was strong as well as timely, while McDade's rap for three bases was even better. Van Dyke get three hits and Miller two, while the other men held up their end of the stick work.

great work with that south paw of his for Friend played a good game in Atlanta, but was released. He was a good outfielder and a hard hitter. Anson looks Keefe, umpiring, put life in the game by his quick decisions.

The score was 3 to 2 in favor of Atlanta until the last half of the eighth inning, when they got on to Brookfield, who was pitching his first game in Mobile, and by bunching five hits, aided by two battery errors, made four runs. Gifford and Lohbeck, two of Mobile's best players, are laid up, but even with that disadvantage the game should gave been more interesting. There were about 900 spectators present to witness the game. The score was:

The first day will be ...nown as. floral day and a grand floral parade will take place in the grounds, participated in by a large number of carriage and bievele owners. The carriages will be beautiful decorated with flowers; there will be 100 of them in line and the sight will be a lovely one. The parade will be led by children on bicycles decorated for the

Through the kindness of Mr. Joel Hurt the street car fare to the grounds will be only 5 cents from any part. of the city and the regular exposition schedule will be in operation. The rail-roads have very generously reduced the fare on their roads to one-half for the occasion and round-trip tickets will be sold from any point in the state.

On the second day of the festival there will be a horseback tournament by the Horse Guards and the participant wh gains the largest number of points will be allowed to crown the queen of love and beauty. Those having the next largest number of points will crown the mails of honor. After the queen and maids have been crowned they will be given a tally-lo ride through the grounds. Donations of refreshments have been given by all of the ladies and these will be served in the woman's building. Cool drinks will be placed in different parts of drinks will be placed in different parts of the grounds.

The ladies have worked hard in order to have the festival come to a successful termination and they deserve all the paironage that the people of this city can give them. If Mr. Rouss, the gentlemen who gave the first $100,000 towards the building of the abbey and who started the movement, could see how hard the ladies of Atlanta, Ga., are working for this good cause he would undoubtedly have it built here.

The floral pageant under the efficient chairmanship of Mrs. Charence Knowles, will be the largest and most beautiful held in any southern city. She has in her previous association with public enterprises and brilliant functions proved her ability to make any undertaking universally popular and successful. There is probably no city in the country of Atlanta's size that can boast of as many elegant turnouts and with received the country of Atlanta's size that can boast of as many elegant turnouts and with received the previous two or three days.

South Carolina's Senator Will Arrive Tomorrow.

There are few more interesting speakers in the United States than Senator Tilman, by reason of the rugged, forceful nature of his utterances. There for Interment.

This morning at 10 o'clock the funeral of Father Cafferty, whose sad death occurred here Thursday morning, will occur in Savannah from the cathedral there.

The body of Father Cafferty left Atlanta last night, accompanied by Bishop Becker, Father Kennedy, of this diocese, and two of the sisters from the infirmary. The body and escort will be met in Savannah by a large crowd of people who knew him in life and loved him.

The funeral will be conducted by Bishop Becker, of Savannah, assisted by Father Keily and Father Kennedy, of Atlanta, and several priests of Savannah. All that is mortal of the good man will be laid to rest in Bonaventure.

Father Cafferty was one of the most widely known priests in this country. He was known throughout the south, and his death will cause many hearts to be saddened. He was a truly good man and had any number of friends, as was shown by the universal sorrow caused by the news of his demise.

Paine's Celery Compound.

Friends of the President Indorse

The proprietors of Paine's celery compound have never exaggerated either the virtue of this wonderful remedy nor the astonishing character of the indorsements all the so-called spring remedies put to-

This Paine's celery compound, which was first discovered and prescribed by America's most eminent physician, that giant among medical scientists of this progressive age, Professor Edward E. Pheips, D. Lie, D., of Dartmouth college—

A letter from Congressman Robert Neill, M. D., LL. D., of Dartmouth college— This remedy, which has been a blessing to thousands upon thousands of homes in every state and city of the country, which has been energetically indorsed by the ablest physicians, which has received thousands of heartfelt testimonials from thousands of heartfelt testimonials from women and men in every station in life, and has been publicly recommended without solicitation by persons of such high character that they are honored by the whole nation—this remedy that makes people well, has received so many letters in its praise within the last two or three months, coming in every mail from every section of the country—that it would be impossible to print them all in the daily canvass ever made of the druggists in the great cities. And their best reporters, un-prejudiced one way or another, have found that the druggists are meeting not only a larger demend than ever before for this one remedy, but that this demand—because Paine's celery compound cures where everything else fails—is so far greater today than that of any other remedy that it has no competitor.

Mr. Hearst's great paper, The Journal in New York, The Globe and The Journal in Hotel Oxford, March 28th, said: New York, the Gicbe and the Journal in Boston, Mr. Kohlsaat's powerful Times-Herald in Chicago, have each of them, within a month, devoted from one to three pages at a time to the most remarkable canvass ever made of the druggists in the bottles of Paine's celery compound, and have been greatly benefited thereby. Since the first of last September I have gained

METHODIST MINISTERS COMPLET. ED THEIR WORK YESTERDAY.

Many Able Papers Concerning the Various Missionary Fields Were Read.

The missionary conference of the north and south Georgia districts of the north Georgia conference, which has been in session for the past two days, was completed yesterday at noon.

The meeting was opened with prayer service by Rev. W. O. Butler. The first address was by Rev. J. B Robbins, the pastor of the Park Street church of West End, on "Relation of Education to Our Conference Mission Work." Dr. Robbin's Conference Mission Work." Dr. Robbin's address was one of the most interesting and elevating delivered during the conference and he deserves great credit for the able manner in which he prepared the paper. He brought out some new ideas in regard to the relation of mission work to education, and was congratulated by the attentive audience present.

The question on which Dr. Robbins spoke was discussed by Rev. S. B. Ledbetter, Rev. W. D. Pierce, Rev. M. H. Edwards and Rev. J. S. Embry.

The next question was "Relation to Church Extension to Mission Work." An able address was made on this subject by Rev. Clement A. Evans. General Evans is known throughout the south as one of the ablest speakers that the south has ever produced, and his address, vesterday was one of the most fervent and ablest that he has ever made.

The question was discussed by Rev. R. P. Martyn, Rev. F. S. Hudson, Rev. W. A. Dodge and Rev. G. W. Thomas. After the discussion one of the most interesting and successful mission conferences ever held was brought to a close. All interested in the conference think that it was the best ever held and are loud in their praise of those who delivered the interesting ade the conference of the most interesting and the conference think that it was the best ever held and are loud in their praise of those who delivered the held and are loud in their praise of those who delivered the properties.
